

CALL FOR PROSPECTIVE BOARD MEMBERS

Date: 03 June 2017

Iranti-org is a media advocacy organisation that defends the rights of Lesbians, Transgender and Intersex persons in Africa.

Iranti-org works within a human rights framework as its foundational platform for raising issues on Gender, Identities and Sexuality. Founded in January 2012, the organisation focuses on the building of local partnerships and movements that use media as a key platform for advocacy and educational interventions across Africa.

Iranti is looking for board members who believe in our mission and are willing to be active in their governance roles. The organisation is anticipating to have the new Board members induction by August 2017.

The work that Iranti does has never been more important than the present moment in which globally and regionally we face immense challenges in overcoming, homophobia, transphobia and intersexphobia. Iranti has made submissions and training around human rights, and building capacity in the sector to implement human rights; as well as hosting, public engagements around the issue of hate speech and hate crimes. To learn more about the noteworthy work that Iranti does, please go to our website:
